Version 1
“Grow Some Green” :30

ANCER: Saving some green is as easy as growing it... in a garden that is. Growing your own food can save you some serious cash and you don’t need a lot of space.

A small patio, windowsill or even a corner in the kitchen is a great place to start a container garden. All you need is a container, some soil, seeds and water.

And Cultivate Iowa wants to help you get started.

Visit cultivateiowa dot org for information on starting your own garden today.

Cultivate Iowa is a program of the Iowa Food Systems Council.

Version 2
“Donate” :30

ANCER: Are you planting a food garden this year? If so, Cultivate Iowa wants you to consider donating any excess produce you grow to your local food pantry.

Fresh produce is an uncommon item found at food pantries, so any little bit helps. And your community will thank you for it.

Make the promise today to donate tomorrow.

Visit cultivateiowa dot org to make your promise and to find out where you can donate fresh produce.

Cultivate Iowa is a program of the Iowa Food Systems Council.